Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 1 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-24, 26-28, 33-42, drawn to A method comprising: identifying multimedia elements having a linear time-code number; adding a prefix value to linear time-code numbers of each identified multimedia element; and adding suffix values to the linear time-code numbers of each identified multimedia element, identifying a title value describing a particular multimedia presentation content comprised of multimedia elements described by extended time-code numbers; and searching for particular multimedia elements based on their extended time-code numbers., classified in class 386, subclass 65.
 - II. Claim 25, drawn to a method comprising: receiving multimedia elements with a linear time-code; receiving multimedia elements without a linear time-code; attaching linear time-codes; and synchronizing all multimedia elements based the unique linear time-codes, classified in class 386, subclass 66.
 - III. Claims 29-32, drawn to a method comprising: extending an information file in a DVD to provide added functionality in describing content stored on the DVD, and providing navigation and presentation information from the information file for playback of various titles, classified in class 386, subclass 45.

2. Inventions I, II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable.

3. In the instant case, subcombinations I and II has separate utility such as the method as claimed in claim 1 does not require receiving multimedia elements with a linear time-code; receiving multimedia elements without a linear time-code; attaching linear time-codes; and synchronizing all multimedia elements based the unique linear time-codes as claimed in claim 25.

4. Subcombinations I and III has separate utility such as the method as claimed in claim 1 does not require extending an information file in a DVD to provide added functionality in describing content stored on the DVD, and providing navigation and presentation information from the information file for playback of various titles as claimed in claim 29.

5. Subcombination II and III has separate utility such as the method as claimed in claim 25 does not require extending an information file in a DVD to provide added functionality in describing content stored on the DVD, and providing navigation and presentation information from the information file for playback of various titles as claimed in claim 29.

6. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

The examiner has required restriction between subcombinations usable together. Where applicant elects a subcombination and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a). Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.
